V. DIVERSITY, INCLUSION & EQUITY DISCUSSION PART I - NICOLE YOUNG, OPTIMAL SOLUTIONS CONSULTING

- The Executive Committee asked N. Young to help lead this discussion because there has been a national focus that has moved this topic to the top of our countries social consciousness. N. Young recently facilitated this discussion at the CORE Coffee Chats and Conversations and it made sense the share her knowledge with the Council members.
- The CAC Master Plan strategies are grounded in the principle of equity, inclusion and diversity – the early care field recognizes that all children deserve to be happy, healthy, with equitable access to opportunities to reach their full potential.
- The CAC Master Plan was designed to align with the CORE Investments Santa Cruz County Plan where EQUITY is at the heart of this movement.
- D. Munoz introduced Nicole Young, Optimal Solutions Consulting, who began by reading a quote from Ibram X. Kendi, book - How to Be an Antiracist - “Once we loss hope we lose everything.”
  - N. Young shared foundational language, so members had the same level of knowledge to participate in the discussion.
  - How to Be an Antiracist definition of racism - is a marriage of racist policies and racist ideas that produce and normalized racial inequities.

- Racist policy definition: any measure that produces or sustains racial inequity between racial groups for example, red lining – identifies neighborhoods that are considered better than other neighborhoods allows home owners in good neighborhoods to get better low interest loans. This process was based on a racist idea.
  - Concepts learned - an antiracist will acknowledge the differences and take steps to equalize people.
  - Member's broke into small groups to discuss racists and antiracist concepts and reported out to the large group.
  - In closing, members felt it was powerful to hear the depth of feelings about this subject and agree there's more to discuss and learn about it.
- Next Steps: How can the CAC look at antiracist systems?
    - We need time – scheduling out and extend the CAC meetings to further discuss this topic.
    - Schedule Part II discussion for next meeting.
    - Please set time aside to see what and how other agencies have implemented these practices.
    - Anti-bias focuses on gender and classes at Cabrillo College. Peace education library is a good place to start.

In closing: M. Watkins stated, this is encouraging to have these conversations. We are all learning and growing, how can we get more intentional. We want to thank N. Young for setting the stage for future discussions.
