Diana-Can you please share how we should be handling the continual prolong cough with a child? Some get through this system quicker than others-how shall we be handling this?

From Nora Caruso (she/her) to Everyone 10:36 AM

We use Oxivyr as well. It's basically hydrogen peroxide that is labeled as a sanitizer

We also use Purell which is basically rubbing alcohol and doesn't need to be wiped

From Patricia Pastor to Everyone 10:36 AM

Just a clarification for Hand Foot & Mouth Disease (HFMD). A clinical diagnosis is given by the doctor/clinician after the patient/child is examined, or after their symptoms are described to the doctor. HFMD is not usually a lab test. Mentioning this so that providers here know what to expect and hear about from parents/caregivers.

From Natural Bridges Children's Center to Everyone 10:52 AM
